The Relationships Seminar

Love, genuinely and authentically expressed, is enormously powerful. It can connect us profoundly and intimately.

Relating - and the quality of our relationships - is of deep, natural, and inherent concern for all of us and like any human endeavor, takes attention, care, and commitment.

In this seminar, we will step beyond what we can strategize or figure out. We will discover a possibility of being related independent of our past, our expectations, our preferences, or our views - a dimension more powerful than personality or circumstance - a dimension where relationships can become an occasion for creativity, vitality, intimacy, and self-expression.

INTENTION OF THE SERIES:

To leave you naturally able to generate and express love, partnership and romance.
